REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A convention of the republican party of the state of Wisconsin will be held at Madison on Wednesday, April 11, for the purpose of electing four delegates and four alternates from the state at large to the national convention to be held at Chicago, June 3, 1884, to nominate a candidate for president, and to act upon the proposition of the state central committee to call a state convention for the purpose of future conventions, and to transact such other business as may be brought before the convention. Each senatorial and assembly district is entitled to one vote.

All citizens are invited to co-operate in the election of delegates to the convention, who are to be chosen from the various districts of labor protecting and extending home industries without discrimination in favor of any class or interest, giving two popular edifices and a massive structure of iron and wood, containing of hallots and effectively protecting all human rights in every section of our common country. The convention will be the supreme assembly of the national republican convention.

The republicans of the various congressional districts shall have the option of electing their delegates at separate popular delegate conventions, held in the congressional districts at any time before the date of the state convention, or by subdividing of the state convention into district conventions, if so elected previous to the meeting of the state convention. All district delegations are to be selected by the officers of such district conventions.

Having been the custom heretofore in this state to select district delegates by subdivision, it is advised by the committee that that method of selecting delegates and electors be continued.

Edward Sanderson, chairman.
Henry C. Payne, secretary and treasurer.
H. W. Key, interviewer.
K. S. McBride, Madison.
W. D. Hooper, Fort Atkinson.
W. H. Miller, Milwaukee.
G. W. Nichols, Des Moines.
F. C. Wysk, Milwaukee.
W. H. Smith, Hartford.
J. H. Miller, Milwaukee.
George J. Jes, Waupaca.
Thomas S. Allen, Oshkosh.
J. A. H. Miller, Milwaukee.
G. O. B. Shaw, Eau Claire.
F. A. Hause, La Crosse.
J. K. Parker, Wausau.
A. L. Sibley, Baraboo.
H. B. Conk, Black River Falls.
A. J. Zorn, Portage.

The republican candidate who can create a hurried campaign, is the candidate that will win.

Mr. Tilden's nomination would be a splendid campaign document for the republicans.

The city council of Oconomowoc has fixed the saloon license at $75, the lowest figure that could be reached under the present law.

The solid business men of New York are in favor of President Arthur's re-nomination. Among them are many prominent democrats.

Robert Lincoln should throw the vice presidency over his shoulder. He is too young to be buried after serving four years as vice president.

The oldest government official in point of service, in this country, is Lindley Nuse, who has been a messenger at the office of the secretary of the navy for 57 years.

Mr. Ingorsoll has not yet explained why he has deserted Blaine and supports Gresham for the nomination. Doesn't Mr. Blaine's lance shine as brightly as it did in 1876, or what is the matter?

The Keely motor test has again been postponed. This will probably make the stockholders sick for the hundredth time. Doomsday will come for the Keely motor meets with a successful test.

A wealthy Scandinavian, who lives at Bismarck, offered $200 the other day to a man if he would find his wife on short notice. The man introduced the Scandinavian to his own daughter, and not only received the $200, but the daughter received a deed of some $40,000 worth of property at Bismarck.

Mr. Frederick Douglass says he has no doubt that Samuel J. Tilden will be the democratic candidate for president. "You see," says the great orator, "there is a sense of poetic justice pervading the democratic party which I believe will impel their convention to give him the nomination a second time." Probably Mr. Douglass is more than half correct in his prophecy.

The republican delegate convention of Washington has refused to make Bob Ingorsoll a delegate to the national republican convention. Ingorsoll expected to go as a delegate, and was determined to make the greatest speech of his life for somebody. The country thereby loses a fine bit of superficial eloquence, and Bob is out of temper with his Washington friends for throwing him over.

There seems to be a growing doubt in Milwaukee that the saloons will be increased in any respectable degree in that city. A large number of citizens held a meeting for the purpose of conferring with Mayor-elect Walbran on the subject, but the conference was not positive in good results. There was a disappointment on the part of those in favor of high license. Mr. Walbran is not pledged to high license, although he was elected principally by the reform influence. He has not given the high license people any satisfaction as to what he shall recommend in his inaugural message, and seems inclined to shrink the responsibility of trying any radical increase in the license fee of saloons.

Mrs. H. A. Elkins, of Chicago, began a suit against a saloon keeper of that city three or four years ago, for selling liquor to her husband who thereby became an habitual drunkard. Mr. Elkins was the ablest artist Chicago ever had, and he was on the highway to splendid success, when a certain saloon keeper seemed to make it a point to give Mr. Elkins all the liquor he could drink and more than he could carry and attend to business. He became a common drunkard, and to recover damages, Mrs. Elkins began suit. In the last trial, eight of the jury favored a verdict of several thousands of dollars, but the others held out for acquittal. The case had been twice tried before with the same result.

The report of the agricultural department for April places the acreage of winter wheat throughout the country at 27,600,000 acres. The department reports that comparing with the acreage harvested the present breadth is an increase of 5 per cent, and the present area is greater than the census year by more than 2,000,000 acres. There is an increase of about 1,500,000 acres on the Pacific coast, and nearly 750,000 acres in the southern states. There is a small increase in the Middle states and a slight decrease in the Ohio basin. The condition of the wheat averages 95-100, representing a full stand of unimpaired vitality and a medium growth. In April, 1883, the average was 80, and 85 in April, 1884.

THE BLAINE MEN.

The Blaine delegates to the Chicago convention are being nominated with alacrity. Pennsylvania will send almost a full delegation for him. It is predicted that the delegation from Iowa to the national republican convention will be for Blaine. In Jamestown New York, delegates to the congressional convention were elected, and were instructed by ballot in regard to presidential candidates. The vote was as follows:

Blaine, 309; Edmunds, 101; Arthur, 5; Lincoln, 5; Conkling, 2; Logue, Evans and Wadsworth, 1 each.

The Twenty-ninth New York congressional district will send two Blaine men to the national convention. In the Seventh Kentucky district, two Blaine delegates have been elected.

So far Blaine is ahead in delegates and the probability is that he will have more votes on the first ballot than any other candidate, but the rub will come in polling a sufficient number that will defeat any combination against him.

WISCONSIN PINES.

In reviewing the lumber harvest of Wisconsin during the past winter, the Madison Journal says: "The harvest has been equal to that of the average notwithstanding the determination of the lumbermen to very considerably restrict it in order to keep up prices. The long and thoroughly favorable season, however, offered too great a temptation to be put aside. There are now probably 2,000,000,000 feet of old and new logs now, awaiting a rise, in the woods of northern Wisconsin, in order to be transported to market. Of these, probably one-third are logs hung up from previous seasons, two-thirds representing the out of the past winter. On the far-spreading Chippewa waters alone there are about 1,200,000,000 feet of these old and new logs, seeking a spring flood upon which to make their journey to the great sorting booms below. Some idea of the rapidity with which the great Wisconsin forests are being denuded, may be gained from a statement of the fact that this enormous crop of 1,200,000,000 feet represents 200,000 acres of standing pine wiped out of existence in the Chippewa basin alone. At this rate of forest slaughtering, the great pines of Wisconsin will in a few years be known only in history."

The address of Dr. George B. Loring, before the American Forestry Congress, in August, 1883, contained some interesting facts regarding the decrease of the forests of this country. The investigations he made led him to make the statement that any fear of a timber famine in this country was altogether unfounded. At the present rate of cutting the pine lumber supply would continue many years—in South Carolina, 50 years; in California, 150 years; in Arkansas, 300 years; in Pennsylvania, 15 years; in Louisiana, 100 years; in Mississippi, 150 years; in Texas, 25 years, and in Alabama 90 years. But in the northern states the acreage was more rapidly decreasing. The Maine pines will not last much longer than four or five years at the present rate of cutting. Twenty years is given Wisconsin in which to exhaust its pine lumber supply, and only 10 years each to Michigan and Minnesota. It is questionable whether the pine forests can in time be restored. Loring thinks they can.

Robert Lincoln will be the vice president over his shoulder. He is too young to be buried after serving four years as vice president.

The oldest government official in point of service, in this country, is Lindley Nuse, who has been a messenger at the office of the secretary of the navy for 57 years.

DREW THEIR GUNS.

A Minnesota Sheriff Develops a Robust Sort of Nerve.

Attempt to Steal Away the Liberty of an Innocent Man—Double Murder in Illinois—Other Criminal Notes.

BRAZEN, Minn., April 11.—Sheriff Mays and a posse captured, at Brainerd, on the St. Paul express train, Sheriff Smith and two deputies of Miles City, Mont., who had in charge a desperado, Steve Taylor, who they were bringing from New Mexico. They violated a writ of habeas corpus in St. Paul. Taylor is badly wanted in Miles City in connection with the large frauds committed on the county funds a year ago, and it is believed that parties there are largely interested in keeping him away from there. On receipt of telegram from Sheriff O'Gorman of St. Paul, the sheriff organized a posse large enough to prevent his escape from the train, and boarded the train with a dozen deputies at the lower yard junction. He placed a man at every coach door, and starting through the train, accompanied by two deputies, found the four men wanted. Upon his accosting them each drew a pair of self-cocking revolvers, and each deputy covered a man, several having rushed to the sheriff's assistance. The coach was filled with an intensely excited crowd, and the Miles City men were instantly covered by a crowd of revolvers. They threatened the Brainerd men, shouting, "Lynch them, they would kill at the Oct. movement toward them." The sheriff explained the situation, and his order to detain the party. They demanded the papers. He said he had only a telegram, but it did not make any difference. They had to stop with him. Meanwhile the train was up, and the conductor's shout of "All aboard!" added confusion to the scene. A deputy sheriff prevented his starting the train while Assistant Superintendent Root was summoned, who instructed the engineer to await orders from him. Finally, words having no effect, the sheriff demanded the surrender of his revolver, which being refused, he stepped up and took them from the Montana bluffers, one after another handing them over to the deputies.

Before they realized what had happened they were hustled out of the car and to the jail although remonstrating strongly. Taylor, their prisoner, was locked up, and the Montana deputies held in the corridor. Sheriff O'Gorman was informed that his men were secured. The sheriff's nerve saved a bloody fight, as the party are all desperate men. Towards midnight the officers were released on bail, furnished by Capt. R. J. Edwards, of Miles City, who stopped off the train to see the result of the trouble.

A Diabolical Plot.

PAVIDENCE, R. I., April 11.—A most diabolical plot to send an innocent man to prison has been frustrated in the latter part of 1883 Charles E. Ross and Martin E. Marble, of Cumberland Hill, were arrested for breaking into a dwelling and robbing it of $1,000. They fled to Connecticut, and were captured at Canterbury Hill July 27, 1883, implicating Simon Bulding, a member of the town council, of unblushing business and local reputation. They alleged that he offered to pay Ross $25, asking him if he wanted a job, and requesting him to burn the barn of William A. Weller, a neighbor of Bulding's. As Bulding and Weller had numerous disputes and were actually at sword's points the confession appeared to have considerable foundation. The result was that Bulding was held for trial upon the confession. He was himself sentenced to prison for ten years for arson, and Marble for six years for receiving stolen goods on the original complaint.

Man and His Wife Murdered.

TEXAS HAIR, Ind., April 11.—Wednesday night N. Fleetwood and wife, living four miles south of Oakdale, Coles county, Ills., were murdered. The assassins broke the old man's skull with some heavy instrument, and made sure of their work cut his throat. They then murdered his wife, sat fire to the bed, and escaped without wakening the rest of the family, who were sleeping upstairs. No reason can be given for the murder. The old folks were found lying in their pajamas. The ex-convict in the neighborhood is strongly suspected and should suspicion follow any one in reach such a one would deserve a hasty on short notice. A large crowd collected in that neighborhood, and threats were made of lynching a young man who is suspected. An ax, with which the bloody work was done, was found in a well.

Killed by His Girl-Wife.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 11.—Peculiar circumstances attend the murder of John Suratt, at Crum's Landing, Tennessee river, committed at high noon a few days ago. Suratt's girl-wife, 25 years old, says her husband was cutting a peg out of her shoe at 12 o'clock that day just before going to dinner, when a strange negro came in the front door, snatched a gun from the corner, and shot the top of her husband's head off. His brain were found deposited against the wall. The negro had been shot in the shoulder and was severely wounded. The negro, who was a member of the neighborhood, had generally believed in the neighborhood that the wife had killed her husband while pointing the gun at him, when it went off accidentally.

Protecting the Distillers.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 11.—The Central Kentucky Export & Guarantee company met at Cynthiana to form an association for the protection of the distillers. The charter was passed, and the name and office and rules and the government's signature. The amount of stock was $100,000. Among the subscribers were T. J. Megibben, G. W. White, Lewis Lelus, and Albrook Bros, each for $10,000. Lewis Lelus was elected president; F. J. Megibben, vice president; R. P. Stoll, treasurer; and J. M. Kimbrough, secretary. The headquarters of the association will be at Lexington. All the whisky to be come out of bond from this time out will be sent to Lelus until ready to import back.

Another Kansas Corn Crop.

CHICAGO, April 11.—The train of twenty-four cars of corn and one car of flour sent to the Ohio River by the people of Butler county, Kansas, has arrived. It was in charge of a committee of clever citizens of that county. The party were met at St. Louis' station with carriage by a committee appointed by the chamber of commerce and taken from the chamber to the hotel.

It would be a pity if Colfax remained in Congress. Wheeler sacrificed all his political influence, when he became vice president.

But the point against it is that his office has yet been benefited by his political influence.

No one has yet been benefited by that office who was not by accident promoted to the presidency. It would have been better had Colfax remained in Congress. Wheeler sacrificed all his political influence, when he became vice president.

He became a common drunkard, and to recover damages, Mrs. Elkins began suit.

In the last trial, eight of the jury favored a verdict of several thousands of dollars, but the others held out for acquittal. The case had been twice tried before with the same result.

COOK'S CUSSEDNESS.

Another Man Who Speaks Harshly of a Star Route Lawyer.

Some Agricultural Department Statistics on the Crop Condition.

The Blair Bill—Congressional Work and Play.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 11.—Special Agent Woodward, of the postoffice department, was before the Springer committee, and read a long statement of his connection with the star route prosecution. He joined preceding government witnesses in denouncing Col. Cook. Cook, he said, represented in glowing terms the propensity of the defendant, and said that Gen. Butler had attempted to discredit him (Cook). Witness stated that Cook's dismission was recommended by President Garfield, and upon the ground that he was morally unfit to occupy the position. The actions of A. M. Gibson, late of the prosecution, were commented upon by witness. His attention was first drawn to Gibson's infidelity when Gibson began to recommend a check of the curtailments of star route expenditures. William B. Liley, a practicing attorney before the postoffice department, warned witness that Cook and Gibson were selling out the government, and would, if retained, do the same. Witness charged Col. Cook with having suppressed the papers relating to Broth and Liley.

On Favor of Skinner.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 11.—In the case of Skinner against the Central Pacific railroad, involving the ownership of certain lands in the Sacramento, land district, Secretary Teller has decided, adversely to the railroad company.

On Eisenacken Denies.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 11.—Herr Von Eisenacken the German minister here, denies the truth of the published statement, that he is to be recalled on account of his course in the Lasker matter.

On Favor from Gordon.

CAMO, April 11.—Sir Evelyn Baring, the English minister to Egypt, has just received two letters from Gen. Gordon, in which he complains bitterly of the conduct of the government in refusing to release Khar-ton and asks for orders to that he shall be in the premises.

He says that there is sufficient food in Khartron to suffice the гарISON to hold out for six months, but adds that if the government does not intend to send reinforcements immediately it would be better for him to evacuate the place at once.

He proposes then to take the black troops with him across the equator to the Congo, via Darfur.

He is uncertain as to how the peasants will act toward him in case he is forced to evacuate Khartron, but fears the worst should they attack him, as the force on which he could rely would be too weak to resist a serious onslaught.

He reports that the general has great distrust of his followers, and that he is fearful of the surrounding tribes, expecting daily to be set upon by them and massacred.

Train Wrecked—One Killed.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 11.—A disastrous wreck occurred on the Panhandle road at Beaver Station, near Dayton. The train which left Indianapolis should have joined the Little Miami train at Xenia at 11:45 a.m. late, and fears were entertained that the accident had occurred. The Little Miami train did not arrive until 11:55, having waited twenty-three minutes at Xenia for the Indianapolis section, and received orders to come on, as the Indianapolis train would not arrive. One of the passengers who arrived here has been found, who has information of a brief character from the wreck. He states that a rail was torn out and the engine and tender plunged into the creek below, the passenger and baggage cars turning over in a heap. Engineer Thomas was killed, and Fireman Connell received probably fatal injuries. Bagagemaster Crawford was badly injured, as was also a man named Smith, supposed to be a postal clerk. The passengers were all badly shaken up.

Obituary.

RICHMOND, Va., April 11.—Ex-Governor John M. Gregory died at his home in Charles City, aged 82 years. He was governor of Virginia in 1842. He served in the legislature for several terms, and was United States district attorney for the eastern district of Virginia from 1838 to 1840, when he retired to private life.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 11.—Dr. Frederick Eckoldt, computer of bullion in the office of the director of the mint, died at his residence in this city, of pneumonia.

Emperor William Seriously ill.

NEW YORK, April 11.—A cable special from Berlin says physicians have been in constant attendance at the bedside of Emperor William for the past forty-eight hours.

On Tuesday night the physician of the royal household was suddenly called. He found the emperor suffering from a convulsive chill. What caused it is not definitely known, but intense excitement prevails among the imperial family. It is feared that the emperor is failing rapidly, and his dissolution is a question of the near future.

The Dixie Under the Blair Bill.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 11.—The total amount which will be received by the New England states under the Blair bill for educational purposes is $3,364,000. This is less than the amount received by any southern state, except West Virginia, which will have $1,000,000, and Florida, whose share is $920,000. Georgia takes the lead with $240,000.

Under the law Maryland state tax of 10 cents on each $100 is levied for school purposes, and this duty brings in from $400,000 to $500,000. Of this sum, by an express provision of law, $100,000 must go to the support exclusively of colored schools.

In addition to that there is in the schools of colored children of school age, without distinction of race or color, either in the raising or distribution of school monies, or in the school facilities afforded, to the colored school children, the state will not be entitled to a share of the $77,000,000 unless the legislature shall see fit to change the existing school law.

As the legislature has just adjourned, and does not meet again for two years, it seems that the state has little chance for a share, unless the bill shall be amended in the house.

The Iroquois Banquet.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Arrangements for the grand annual banquet to be given by the Iroquois club at the Palmer house April 15 are about completed, and there is every indication that it will be an event of Democratic importance and display. The banquet will be preceded by a reception at the club rooms in the afternoon, when a cold collation will be served.

Among those who have accepted invitations to attend the banquet are Senator George H. Pendleton, Governor Hoadly of Ohio, Senator Morton, Col. W. G. P. Breckinridge, Hon. David Turpin, Indiana; Hon. Richard B. Hubbard, Texas; Col. W. R. Vilas, Wisconsin; Baylis W. Hanna, Indiana; Frank Hurd, Ohio; James H. Beeson, Texas; M. M. Horn, Iowa; Gen. J. C. Black, Davierville; W. T. Dowdall, Florida; Jeremiah H. Murphy, Iowa; C. W. O'Brien, mayor of St. Paul; Congressman W. D. Hill, Ohio; P. H. Kelly, St. Paul; John H. Oberly, Bloomington, and Edward Kuntz, Detroit, Mich. Letters of regret have been received from A. S. Hawley, F. Flower, W. Dorsheimer, S. J. Lowell, E. C. Pratt, P. Wheeler, J. G. Carlisle, William R. Morrison, W. M. Springer, Gen. Rosecrans, G. G. I have taken comfort with my Kent's Corn Planter trade since I have been handling Kent's Corn Planters. They always give perfect satisfaction.

This is the dealer with judgment sound.
Who always buys the best goods that can be found.

Farmer Thayer, I can warrant Kent's Triumph corn planter to give satisfaction every time I have sold them for five years, and never had one back yet.

This is Farmer Thayer, with a practical air.
Who always buys goods where dealings are square.

I tell you sir, Kent's Triumph corn planter, with malleable iron slide and box bottom, is worth a dozen of the old kind. They are now even, the corn well and never give out.

Send for a Sample of Kent's Corn Planter.
The are the best in the market and warranted to give satisfaction.
When you order mention the Gazette.

The First Regiment at Monroe.

The companies composing the first regiment of Wisconsin National Guards are making extensive preparations to visit Milwaukee on Wednesday evening.

Painters had been at work painting the interior, and carelessly threw some oily rags in a cupboard, and late in the evening, they were ignited by spontaneous combustion and discovered in time to spoil a first class local item for the Free Press.

The American express office in this city, under the management of Mr. A. P. Burnham, who recently came here from Milwaukee, has been thoroughly cleaned by a thorough overhauling, scrubbing and painting, making the office look now like new quarters. Mr. Burnham is making many friends in this city, and is a thorough business man, making himself agreeable and popular with all classes.

Mr. J. W. Dean, of Chicago, who has been conducting meetings in the Presbyterian church during the week, is meeting with good success. The church has been crowded with people each evening, and it was found necessary to change the place of meeting to-day, to the Congregational church, which will accommodate all who desire to attend. The meeting this evening will therefore be held in the Congregational church at 7:30 o'clock. A prayer meeting will be held at the same place at 7.

—McNamee, the popular druggist, of North Main Street is always up with the times, and knows how to make his store the popular place for ladies to call when in search of toilet articles, and hundreds of other articles kept in such stores for their benefit. He now proposes to give every lady calling at his drug store on Saturday, to-morrow, a beautiful little Easter card. We have seen the cards and they are real gems in the line of ornaments.

On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Nathaniel Kidder, of Milton Junction, met with an accident by which he will be laid up for some time. He was cutting a stick with an axe, and not being mindful of the projecting limbs over his head, he raised his axe to strike a blow, the axe caught the limb, and falling with great force, struck his right foot, the blade of the axe cutting his foot from the little toe back across and through the instep. The wound is a dangerous one, but it is thought he will recover the use of the foot in time.

At the competitive drill between the members of the Janesville Guards last evening, for the Doo prize medal, Sergeant George Scariff won the prize after a very sharp contest. This being the third time Sergeant Scariff has won the medal, it now belongs to him, and he wears it as the best drilled member of the Guards. The handsome prize has been won by several members of the Guards since it was offered, and Sergeant Scariff has not had a very easy time in capturing the prize, but a small force can be employed at present but as opportunity offers this will be enlarged.

Mr. Archie Galbraith, of the Galbraith Brothers, of this city, arrived last evening, with twelve head of Clydesdale horses and thirteen Shetland ponies direct from Scotland. The Clydes are the finest yet imported by this firm. One of the stallions, a four-year-old colt, named "Balmoral," is unquestionably the finest appearing Clydesdale ever seen in this city, and he will weigh in the neighborhood of 2,200 pounds. All are extra fine. The ponies—well, we give it up, as we are not a good judge of small animals—they must be seen to be appreciated. The Galbraiths also brought over on the same steamer a herd of Aberdeen cattle, which were left in the cattle quarantine in Boston.

"W. W. Kimball & Co., Pianos and Organs," is the next sign hung out to-day, at the north store in the Norcross block on River street. This is a branch of the W. W. Kimball & Co's Chicago music house, and is under the management of Messrs. D. D. Wilson and C. E. Mosley, who are just receiving two car loads of musical instruments, consisting of the Chickering, Hallert & Davis, Emerson and Kimball pianos, and the celebrated Kimball organs, and which will completely fill the store room. By the way, the store room is being fitted up in first class order, and when completed, will be the handsomest room in the city used as a store.

Oliver P. Richardson, a manufacturer at Charlotte, Michigan, having selected a casket and pall-bearers, passed quietly away.

The fast freight train on record was made by eight cars of meat, which were taken from Chicago to New York, in 68 hours.

Charles Crocker states that legislative agitation of railway matters caused him to suspend construction on the California & Oregon road.

The Erie & Pittsburg railroad having been advertised for sale by the sheriff, the officers made a desparate effort and raised $475 with which to pay the claim.

The will of Harry Hitchcock, of Galesburg, Ill., gives to Kaylor college property valued at from $75,000 to $100,000, subject to a life annuity for his widow.

The creditors of James B. Claw & Son, dealers in hardware supplies, have granted an extension of twenty-six months on an indebtedness of $142,000, and passed resolutions of confidence in the firm.

William H. Van Slyck, in a card to the stockholders of the Rock Island road, advises H. H. Porter, unworthy of a directorship, and asks for proxies to be used in the election of John Nowell as his successor.

The firm of Davis & Taylor, the leading flour and grain house of Boston, has been forced to the wall by the death of the junior partner last Tuesday. The liabilities are estimated all the way from $300,000 to $1,000,000, and the assets at $250,000.

The Elijah Grayson house at Northampton, Mass., which was over 200 years old, was burned. A fire at Pensacola, Fla., has destroyed a hotel, a freight depot, and other buildings, all valued at $50,000.

Two prominent citizens of Suspension Bridge, named Van R. Pearson and Thomas Vedder, brothers-in-law, drove over to Goat Island Wednesday evening. At midnight the corpse of the former was discovered, with a bullet-hole in the head, but the only trace of the latter was a pile of his clothing. The horse was found tied to a tree covered with spray. Pearson had of late become very unbalanced, and it is suspected he intended to place him in an asylum. Vedder's body is believed to have gone over Niagara falls. Nothing is yet known as to the cause of the tragedy.
